Ev3nt Horizon

Sometimes I struggle, sometimes it's hard
Sometimes I'm moving but I don't get too far
Sometimes the landlord raises the rent
Sometimes I have it, sometimes it's spent.

Sometimes it's morphine, sometimes it's pain
Sometimes the animals are walking right on top of my brain
Sometimes I work, sometimes I stray
And sometimes I would like to go away…hey!

Sometimes I have it, sometimes I don't Sometimes I'll get it back, sometimes I won't Sometimes I lose, sometimes I find
That I've wasted precious time.

You mitigate, you medicate, you congregate, you conflagrate,
Substantiate, you bifurcate, you eat the lunch that's on your plate,
YOU FLASH, YOU SPLASH, YOU CRASH, YOU SMASH,
You dine and dash, you hide the stash
You slash and burn.
Until you reach the point of no return,
And you reach the point of no…
And you reach the point of no return,
and you reach the point of no…no…no…return.

Sometimes I'm anxious, sometimes I fear,
That I'll need more pills than I can buy in here.
What if the money is not so good,
What if the money is not so good.

Sometimes it's morphine, sometimes it's pain
Sometimes the animals are walking right on top of my brain
Sometimes I work, sometimes I stray
And sometimes I would like to go away.

Sometimes I'm fakin', sometimes I'm real
Why am I supposed to know just how to feel?
What if the walls come tumblin' down,
And the walls come tumblin' down,
And the walls come tumblin' down.

There's an elephant walking on my brain
There's a telephone talking on the train
There's a melanoma baby, don't you dare say maybe
And every day i drink is just the same.
